

REFERENCE LIST

- [1] Institute of Structural Engineers & Institute of Civil Engineers, Manual for the design of reinforced concrete building structures. UK: Institute of Structural Engineers, 1985
- [2] British Standard for Structural use of Concrete - part 1: code of practice for design and construction, BS 8110-1, 1985
- [3] C.H.Goodchild, Economic Concrete Frame Elements. Berkshire, UK: British Cement Association, 1997
- [4] A. Orton, The way we build now: Form, scale and technique. London, UK: E & FN SPON, 1988.
- [5] T.G.D.T. Dharmawardana, "Tall building case base", M.S. thesis, Dept. Civil Eng., University of Moratuwa, Moratuwa, Sri Lanka, 2003.
- [6] "A basic introduction to neural networks," [online]. Available: <http://pages.cs.wisc.edu/~bolo/shipyard/neural/local.html>
- [7] "Multiple regression analysis," [online]. Available: <https://explorable.com/multiple-regression-analysis>
- [8] W.P.S. Dias, U.A. Padukka, "AI Techniques for Preliminary Design Decisions on Column Spacing and Sizing", in B.H.V. Topping, (Editor), "Proc. Eighth International Conf. Application of Artificial Intelligence to Civil, Structural and Environmental Engineering", Civil-Comp Press, Stirlingshire, UK, Paper 10, 2005.
- [9] M.N.S. Hadi, "Neural Networks applications in concrete structures," Computers and structures, vol.81, pp.373-381, 2002.
- [10] "Coefficient of determination," [online]. Available: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Coefficient\_of\_determination
- [11] A.H.Allen, Reinforced Concrete Design to BS8110 simply explained. London, UK: E. & F.N. Spon Ltd, 1988